

SPECIAL THANKS

First and foremost, thanks to all of YOU for serving your communities in this capacity. YOU make a difference and YOU are appreciated.

-AND-

- ◆ All of our speakers
- ◆ The Hampton Inn & Suites of Cazenovia
- ◆ Madison County Planning Department
- ◆ Favors and Centerpieces were made from items purchased in Madison County businesses including: The Bee Man Candle Company, Critz Farms, and Troyers Country Store.
- ◆ And everyone who helped or participated in making tonight's PZI an evening of training, sharing, enjoying good food and having fun.

Experience is the greatest teacher, and when we can share our knowledge and experiences with each other, the experience of one, becomes the knowledge of many.

SPEAKERS

Ed McMahon—Keynote Speaker Senior Resident Fellow, Urban Land Institute

Ed McMahon holds the Charles E. Fraser Chair on Sustainable Development at the Urban Land Institute in Washington, DC where he is nationally known as an inspiring and thought provoking speaker and leading authority on economic development and land use polices and trends. As the Senior Fellow for Sustainable Development McMahon leads ULI’s worldwide efforts to conduct research and educational activities related to environmentally sensitive development policies and practices. He is also Chairman of the Board of the National Main Street Center and a Senior Advisor to ULI’s Healthy Places Initiative.

Before joining the Urban Land Institute in 2004, McMahon spent 14 years as the Vice President and Director of Land Use Programs for The Conservation Fund, where he helped to protect more than 5 million acres of land of historic or natural significance. He is also the co-founder and former President of Scenic America, a national non-profit organization devoted to protecting America’s scenic landscapes. Before that, he taught law and public policy at Georgetown University Law Center for 9 years, and served in the U.S. Army, both at home and abroad.

McMahon is the author or co-author of 15 books and over 500 articles. His books include: Balancing Nature and Commerce in Gateway Communities, Better Models for Development in Virginia and Conservation Communities: Creating Value with Nature, Open Space and Agriculture. McMahon also writes regularly for Urban Land Magazine, Planning Commissioners Journal and other periodicals. During the past 30 years McMahon has worked with more than 600 communities in all 50 states on a wide variety of land use and economic development issues. McMahon has served on numerous advisory boards and commissions including: Chesapeake Conservancy, the National Trust for Historic Preservation, Preservation Maryland, the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation, the Home Depot Foundation and the Orton Family Foundation. McMahon has a BS from Spring Hill College; an M.A. in Urban Studies from the University of Alabama, and a J.D. from Georgetown University Law School. He and his wife live in Takoma Park, Maryland.

Beth Greenwood Mayor of Tully NY

Beth Greenwood holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Cornell University in Neurobiology and a Master of Public Administration with a certificate in Conflict Resolution from Syracuse University –Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs. She is co-founder of Build Hope LLC which embraces the mission to offer investors the opportunity to work together to address issues in the community and use business principles to set up sustainable solutions. In addition to holding the rank of Commander in the United States Navy, she has been the Mayor of the Village of Tully since April of 2009. She is quoted as saying “I am working to ensure that the citizens of the Village of Tully, NY have an open, transparent, and responsive local government”. Beth will be sharing Tully’s success story regarding empowering the community to invest in and redevelop a vacant building downtown into a grocery store with upper floor apartments.
